

THE LINCOLN MONUMENT A SHAM.

A monument to Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, was erected at Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, Illinois, where the murdered President was buried. It was completed in 1874 and cost $206,500, which was raised by popular subscription. The men who had charge of the construction of the monument, though they posed as patriots at the time are now known to have been scoundrels.

During the last session of the Legislature the monument was turned over to the State, and an act passed appropriating $30,000 for repairs and conducting the Gov-rnor, State Treasurer and Superintendent of Public Instruction a board of trustees to care for the monument and make the necessary repairs. This board reports that the monument is a sham and a fraud. What appeared to be huge blocks of granite used in its construction are only thin slabs laid over bricks. The pile instead of being granite, is a mass of bricks with a granite veneering only three inches thick. It cannot be repaired and made permanent and the trustees recommended that it be torn down and a solid granite shaft be erected in its stead. They think, however, the surviving members of President Lincoln's family should be consulted before this step is taken.

The self-constituted committee that assumed supervision of the erection of a monument to "Honest Old Abe," were supposed to have been actuated by patriotic motives. It is now shown that like many other so-called patriots, their object was gain, and that the monument which cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars, contributed by the people, and supposed to be as enduring as the pyramids of Egypt is but a pile of brick with a thin veneering of granite to conceal the fraud from the public.

SENATOR TELLER TRUE TO SILVER.

Senator Teller of Colorado has returned to Denver from the East and publicly reiterates his former pledge not to support a gold candidate for President. "I have not," said the Senator, "deviated from my silver position at all. I cannot consistently support a gold standard candidate, and I will not. I have never made a secret of the fact that if the Democrats put up an avowed silver candidate for President I would vote for him although I have not voted a Democratic ballot since I was 22 years old, and I am now 65 years of age."

Senator Teller says there is great dissatisfaction in the East over the financial system, and this dissatisfaction cannot be concealed. The silver sentiment is not dying out, and he thinks the cause has advanced materially and the silver men are stronger than ever. From his observations business was not nearly so active as the newspapers make out.

A few years ago Senator Teller's candidacy for the Presidency was urged by some of the Republican newspapers of Nevada, which now do not mention his name and could scarcely be induced to quote his remarks on the silver question. He will not support a gold man for President, and, like Senator Jones, he believes that the Republican organization is unalterably opposed to free coinage.

BILL NYE NOT APPRECIATED.

Bill Nye, the humorist, lectured in Paterson, New Jersey, last Tuesday night. For weeks he had been extensively advertised and the subject of his lecture was announced to be "Farming Exposed." At the appointed hour there was not a vacant seat in the lecture hall, and the audience embraced the elite of Paterson society. Mr. Nye was greeted with applause, but he did not talk long or say much about farming. There was not an appreciative murmur and the young ladies requested their escorts to take them home. Mr. Nye demanded and received $250 for his lecture, but when he started for his carriage he received more than he bargained for. State eggs were showered upon him like a cloudburst. They spattered over his face and his back, and made rivulets, and had smelling ones too, down his clothes, and when the carriage door closed he was a study in colors and smells worse than Greek fire or Chinese stink pots. His humor was not appreciated in New Jersey and he does not appreciate the humor of the Jerseymen.

A duel between Senator Blackburn of Kentucky and Lieutenant Young of the navy is among the probabilities. They quarreled in a hotel at Washington about Carlisle and Young struck the Senator on the nose. This occurred some days ago, but it was hushed up. A committee of colonels was appointed to determine whether it was proper for the Senator to challenge the soldier, and a majority decided in the negative as the duelling code is not recognized in the naval service and if Lieutenant Young should fight he would be court-martialed. Whether this will prevent a meeting on the field of honor is not known.

Rev. Mr. Hoyer is the Republican candidate for the Legislature at Greenville, Ohio. He is accused of writing a letter to the Brice men, offering his vote for United States Senator, if elected, on condition of being given $1,500 for campaign expenses. It is claimed that an attempt was made to poison him.

DURRANT FOUND GUILTY.

The Jury Out Only Twenty Minutes
SAN FRANCISCO, November 1.—District Attorney Barnes this morning resumed his argument in behalf of the prosecution in the trial of Theodore Durrant. The opinions of a number of famous jurists were read to show that circumstantial evidence might be as strong and conclusive as direct testimony. He also picked numerous flaws in Durrant's testimony and at the conclusion declared that the whole alibi was a lie. District Attorney Barnes closed the case with an eloquent peroration, in which he asserted that a verdict of guilty was the only conclusion to be arrived at from the evidence. The court then took a recess until 2 o'clock when Judge Murphy began his lengthy charge to the jury.

Judge Murphy, in charging the jury, said after a lengthy review of the case: Every person accused of crime is presumed to be innocent until his guilt is proved beyond a reasonable doubt and established to a moral certainty. Reasonable doubt does not mean mere conjectural doubt or capricious doubt or possible doubt, but it means that the evidence must satisfy the mind, conscience and judgment of a juror that probably no criminal charge can be proved beyond the possibility of doubt or error or to perfect certainty. Moral certainty is all the law requires to prove any fact. The prosecution is not called upon to prove the guilt of the prisoner to demonstration, to absolute certainty and beyond the possibility of doubt, for such evidence is rarely if ever attainable.

Our Supreme Court says that when a jury is satisfied to a moral certainty and beyond a reasonable doubt that then they are entirely satisfied.

Judge Murphy referred to the defendant taking the stand in his own behalf and said that the truth of his story of his movements on April 3, the jury should consider his manner when giving testimony, the question as to whether or not he had contradicted himself, his relation to the case, how far his statements are borne out by others and the consequences to him from his trial.

The attempt of the accused to prove an alibi does not shift the burden of proof from the State. The jury was cautioned as to mistakes in identity, but reminded that where there is reason for observing a person a witness is not so likely to be mistaken. If no motive for the killing is apparent, this is a circumstance in favor of innocence. The motive may not be apparent. In many cases of homicide the jury must determine if the motive is a hidden desire for revenge or if passion existed. No witness has been produced who saw the killing.

Hence it is urged that the evidence is only circumstantial and, consequently, entitled only to an inferior degree of credit, but circumstantial evidence may be just as strong and convincing as direct evidence. A fact sworn to by one witness may not be so strong or so satisfactorily proved as is a fact which is the necessary consequence of a chain of other facts, sworn to by many witnesses of undoubted credibility.

The jury in the Durrant case went out at 3:30, on the conclusion of Judge Murphy's charge, which occupied one hour and thirty minutes in its delivery. Attorney Dickinson, for the defendant, took exception to the entire charge.

The jury in twenty minutes returned a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment. As a large number of exceptions were taken by defendant's counsel during the trial, the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

A Weak Digestion

strange as it may seem, is caused by a lack of that which is called "fat." The perfect fact in connection with appears at this point—it is partly fat—and the most perfect digestion is quickly strengthened by it.

The only possible help in Consumption is the arrest of waste and renewal of new, healthy tissue. Scott's Emulsion has done wonders in Consumption just this way.

INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.

Mr. Beck Asks Some Questions and the District Attorney Answers

EDITOR JOURNAL: To-day I called on District Attorney Norcross at his office at the Court House and submitted the following communication

Reno, November 1, 1895.

F. H. Norcross, Esq., District Attorney in and for Washoe County—Sir: With outdoubt you have noticed my communication to the JOURNAL in which I published a copy of a receipt given by

T. K. Hymers, as Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners for Washoe county during the month of May, 1891. On the face of said receipt it appears, in connection with other evidence at hand, that Mr. Hymers, as Chairman of said Board of County Commissioners, made a private contract with one F. Vallancourt to sell, and did sell to him, the said Vallancourt, a certain lot in Reno, the property of Washoe county, for the sum of $125, and that said Vallancourt did then and there pay said Chairman Hymers the sum of seventy-five dollars on account of such sale, and that said T. K. Hymers, Chairman as aforesaid, never reported such transaction to either of the financial officers of the county, to-wit: the County Treasurer or the Auditor, but put said seventy-five dollars thus obtained into his own pocket and used it for at least four and a half years for his own use.

"The above, no doubt, is sufficient to apprise you of the matter of which I wish now to ask your opinion as the law-officer of Washoe county, to-wit:

"First—Did said Mr. T. K. Hymers, Chairman as aforesaid, transgress any law in said transaction?

"Second—If he, the said Chairman as aforesaid, did illegally bargain and sell said property and use the proceeds to his own use for the period of four years and a half, and now uses them after being exposed to the public, I ask you what proceedings are necessary to correct the offense of which a generous public now complains?

"Respectfully, "H. H. Beck."

After reading the foregoing the District Attorney answered me in writing as follows: "Mr. Beck: In answer to your communication I will say that up to the present time other matters have demanded my entire attention, but I will state to you, as I have to others who have spoken to me concerning the matter, that at my earliest opportunity a thorough investigation will be made by myself and the facts, together with my conclusions of the law governing in the premises, presented at the next session of the Grand Jury for that body to take such action as they deem fit and the law warrants.

"F. H. NORCROSS. "November 1, 1895."

And now, so far as I am concerned, the matter shall rest until the Grand Jury and the public officials shall act.

H. H. Beck. Reno, November 1, 1895.

OBJECTS OF CITY

A Family Almost Destitute Camped Near the Cattle Bridge.

A man and wife and five children, who have made the journey across the plains from Missouri, are camped below the cattle bridge. The family is traveling in a couple of old wagons and have been on the road for ten months.

They are bound for Los Angeles, where the husband and father claims to have relatives and friends. They are in a pitiable condition, the woman being paralyzed and almost helpless, and the eldest boy, aged 10 years, being afflicted with the same trouble and unable to speak. The man tells a long story of hardships, and really makes a listener wonder how he could have mustered up courage to attempt such a journey with such a family under such terrible circumstances. The youngest child is only ten months old and the others are comparatively babes. The name of the man is C. J. Bacon, and his situation and the condition of himself and family is deplorable.

Chief of Police Higgins and Allen C. Bragg visited the family yesterday and did what they could to relieve their immediate necessities by gathering up clothing and provisions for them. T. K. Hymers sent hay down to the camp for the horses, and at present the family is perhaps comfortable, in comparison to what they have been for some time. Efforts will be made to send them over the mountains, and anyone feeling disposed to help them with food or clothing can have an opportunity of doing a charitable act.

In a Bad Fix.

The Durrant trial is over, the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight is a fiasco and the telegraphic news manufacturer is in a quandry. He will have to dig up a volcanic eruption or mysterious seismic disturbance on some unknown island in the Pacific, or stir up a revolution in South America in order to earn his salary until something of a sensational character comes to his relief.

The Student Record.

The number is a good one and will doubtless be welcomed by its readers.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Forecasts for November—Some Explanations.

(By Prof. W. T. Foster.)

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 1.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from October 30th to November 3d and from November 5th to 9th. The next disturbance will reach the Pacific Coast about November 10th, cross the West of Rockies country by the close of the 11th, the Great Central Valleys from the 12th to 14th and the Eastern States the 15th.

This will be the notable disturbance of the month. By disturbance is not always meant a storm only, but that the even or average or, rather, the natural quiet of the atmosphere will be disturbed.

My calculations are made upon the theory that if there were no other disturbing influences than our sun and earth we would have a sameness of weather with no sudden changes, no heavy rains and snows, only a very gradual change from summer's heat to winter's cold, and none of these excessive conditions. Rainfall would be mist, snows would be frozen mist, no droughts and no floods, no excesses of any kind in weather changes.

Whatever departures from these very even weather conditions occur must come, as I see it, from the magnetic and electro-magnetic influences of the moon on the earth and of the other seven major planets on the sun and earth.

These departures from the even and gradually changing weather conditions

I call disturbances and one of these disturbances is what I have in mind when I say from November 11th to 16th the principal disturbances of the month will cross the continent from west to east.

But so many people misunderstand plain English. Disturbance does not necessarily mean a storm, but a departure from the average or even weather conditions. When the temperature goes above or below the monthly average for a certain hour in the day, that constitutes a disturbance.

CHOICE LITERATURE.

A Library Opened Under the Auspices of the Twentieth Century Club.

Under the auspices of the Reno Twentieth Century Club, a new enterprise has sprung up which is destined to supply a long felt want in this city and vicinity. The new Library Association which opened its doors yesterday already numbers one hundred subscribers, among which the reporter noticed such well known names as Mrs. J. N. Evans

(President of the Association), Mrs. Bender, Mrs. Powning, Mrs. C. Gilling,

Mrs. Layton, Mrs. Flannigan, Mrs. Norcross, Mrs. McCormack, Mrs. Hillman,

Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Emery, Mrs. Schmitt, Mrs. Jameson, Mrs. Sanders,

Mrs. Botsford, Mrs. A. G. Phillips, President Stubbs, Professor

Lewers, Professor Church, John Sanderson, Dr. Patterson and Phillips,

T. W. Boalt, Judge Linn, Judge Corlier, Major Dennis, Mr. W. Levy, Mr. Jacobs,

Mr. S. Levy, Mr. Keller, Mr. L. H. Taylor, Dr. Thompson, Mr. McRae and a host of others. The object of the Association is to furnish the very latest and best books and periodicals, literature of America and Europe, and provide a choice reference library, of which Reno stands much in need. The first consignment of books was opened yesterday and new arrivals are looked for every day. The selections have been made by Mrs. T. F. Hood, who is thoroughly posted on the literature of the day. The promoters have received so much encouragement that it is confidently anticipated the membership will reach two hundred and fifty by the end of the year. Temporary headquarters have been secured one door west of the JOURNAL office, and the library will be open every afternoon except Sundays. Members' subscriptions, which have been fixed at fifty cents per month, will be received at the library parlors, the firm of Boalt & Bird, or any of the officers of the Association.

It may not be out of place to note here that the Reno Free Library will be shortly re-organized, and carefully laid plans are being materialized for its successful continuance.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings Here, There and Everywhere.

M. T. Costa of Reno has been employed as miller at the Lovelock flour mills.

The Revue says it is currently reported in Austin that the mine and mill at Silver Peak have been closed down. The rumor lacks confirmation, however.

Fire losses in the United States and Canada for September amounted to $10,766,300, and for the nine months of the year to $97,377,900. This is a decrease of $1,500,000 compared with the same period of 1894; and $23,000,000 short of the nine months record of 1893.

Austin people are petitioning that a semi-weekly mail route be established between Austin and Cortez via Grass Valley, and that a postoffice also be established at the Spencer ranch and that Sarah E. Spencer be appointed postmistress.

Commodore Balfour reports the deepest spot yet discovered in the ocean at latitude 23 degrees 40 minutes south, longitude 175 degrees 10 minutes west, about sixty miles north of a sounding of 4,228 fathoms obtained by Captain Aldrich in 1888. The depth reached by Commodore Balfour of the Penguin was 4,900 fathoms, though, unfortunately, the sounding was not complete, as a fault in the wire caused it to break when 4,900 fathoms (a little more than five and one-half miles) had been run out without reaching the bottom.

University Notes.

Dr. Patterson will address the students at assembly on November 6th.

Judge Cheney has consented to deliver a course of three or more lectures at the University in the near future on "The Elements of the Common Law."

The students have subscribed nearly three hundred dollars in one dollar subscriptions to the gymnasium fund.

Two hundred and ninety-nine students are upon the University roll.

Lincoln Hall is rapidly approaching completion and Contractor Ryland hopes to finish the work by December 1.

President Stubbs will deliver lectures at Virginia and Carson sometime during the winter months, the proceeds to go to the gymnasium fund.

Squads of ten men from each company are engaged daily in cleaning guns and accoutrements. The guns will soon be issued and company drill will begin.—Student Record.

Haverly's Mastodons.

The Napoleonic touch of Col. J. H. Haverly left its indelible impress on the "Mastodons" years ago. The outcome was, a strong impression on the public, and even up to present times it is as strong as ever, and has not dwindled in the slightest; in fact it can be said that the popularity of the "Mastodons" has increased. There must be a reason for such lasting popularity, and that is, that the public can, and always have put faith in the "Mastodons," which is, in their eyes, a tried and true organization of superior merit.

As each year goes by they look for the coming of the "Mastodons" as they look forward to a holiday, and each visit is more pleasantly remembered.

Once again the announcement is made for their appearance at McKissick's Opera House and everything points to a packed house.

A Candid Critic.
It is not generally known that the present shah of Persia is not only a prose writer of considerable merit, but has also some pretensions to the character of a poet. Like the German king who, according to Carlyle, declared himself to be above grammar, so does the Persian monarch consider himself above criticism. Yet, like all poets, he is glad to lend an ear to it when it is favorable.
One day, however, having completed a poem which particularly delighted him, he designed to read it to one of the most prominent men of letters attached to his household.
"What do you think of it?" he asked after reading his verses aloud.
"I do not altogether like the poem," was the candid reply.
"What an ass you are to say so!" replied the offended sovereign, and there was certainly much wisdom in the royal words, for the misguided critic was forthwith ordered to the stables to be flogged.
A few days later the shah, having written another poem, once more desired to hear the opinion of the learned scribe whom he had consulted before. Hardly had he read a few lines of his latest incubation when the learned man turned abruptly away and prepared to run out of the room.
"Where are you going?" thundered his majesty.
"Back to the stables," cried the critic in desperation. So amused was the king of kings by this reprieve that he forgave the delinquent and forebore to have him flogged a second time.—Exchange.

Pretty Poll in a Fix.
A showman at the fair possessed a beautiful parrot, which accompanied him everywhere on his peregrinations through town and country and excited the admiration of the gaping crowd by its capital imitation of the showman's voice and tones when inviting the public to step into the booth. One day the faithful creature broke its chain and escaped into a neighboring plantation. Soon a number of men and boys were on its track, but before they had gone far they heard a loud noise caused by the screeching of birds in the wood.
On arriving at the spot whence the sounds proceeded, they found poor poll perched on the withered branch of a tree bereft of most of its feathers and surrounded by a flock of screeching crows that were mercilessly pecking at it with their beaks. Notwithstanding this pitiable state of affairs, the crowd of seekers could not refrain from laughing as they heard the poor victim scream out at the top of its voice: "One at a time, gentlemen! Don't crush so, please! Take your time! There's plenty of room!"—International Curgist.

He Frotoed.
There is an anecdote told of an Indiana man who was presenting a letter of introduction to a merchant in the Ecuadorian capital, Quito. Ecuador is famous for its earthquakes. All the houses there are but one story in height, and the windows and doors of the thick walls are the universal niches for safety. The Indiana man had just finished an elaborate pantomime in an attempt to convey without words his joy at meeting the Spanish merchant. In the middle of it came an earthquake shock. Like a flash the merchant shot into one of the window niches, yelling to the stranger, "Pronto! Pronto!" ("Quick! Quick!")
The traveler was narrating it subsequently when earthquake stories came up.
"I didn't know no Spanish, and I didn't know what 'pronto' meant, but you bet I 'frotoed,'" said the Indiana man.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Extensive Land Owners.
Henry Miller and Charles Lux, cottoners of San Francisco, confess to owning more than 14,000,000 acres of land in three states. As the San Francisco Examiner puts it, this makes an estate equal in area to the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut together. It is half the size of West Virginia and an eighth the entire area of California. It is as large as Greece, with the Ionian isles, of which Byron wrote. It is four times the area of Alsace-Lorraine, over which France and Germany fought. It is but little smaller than Ireland and half again as large as Switzerland. It is twice the size of Belgium and one third the size of England and Wales together. These two remarkable men are natives of one of the Rhenish provinces of Germany.

A Small Boy's Wish.
The idea of heaven possessed by young hopefuls was well expressed by a South Side lad of 4 years the other day. It was during a thunderstorm. He was with his mamma at home.
"Mamma, does God make thunder?" he asked.
"Yes, Willie. God makes thunder."
"Well, mamma, do you know what I am going to do when I get to heaven? I'm going to go to God and ask him, 'Dear God'—and I'll say it very gently, mamma—'dear God, can I make just a little thunder? I'd like to make some over so much.' Do you think he will let me make thunder, mamma?"—Chicago Chronicle.

A Good Time to Be Absent.

NEVER SUCH TESTIMONIALS.
What the Mail Brings to the Paine's Celery Compound People.

What excuse is there for not getting strong and well? Paine's Celery Compound, the world's great remedy for nervous weakness, can be obtained at any druggist's in any city or in any country town. One can get a heartier, healthier appetite, purify the blood and increase its power of feeding the nerves and tissues by taking Paine's Celery Compound.
It is the greatest invigorator in existence. Convince yourself of the fact. Try it.
Testimonials for publication are taken quite at random by the present proprietors of this great remedy.
The letters are never "doctored."
Titles are never placed before the names of untitled people. Honest but obscure men are never said to be "honorable." Everyday kind of men who have been made well by Paine's Celery Compound are never paraded before the public as "The Great Mr. So-and-So," or "The Wonderfully Successful Mr. This-and-That." Cases of ordinary sickness are never elaborated into hideous, impossible diseases.
When it happens that the mail brings a heartfelt letter from such a man as State Treasurer Colvin of New York, or Mr. Caraliele's private secretary, or Edmund Russell, or Mayor McShane of Montreal, or Rev. Fr. Onell, or Commodore Howell, or Mr. Gilliam of Judge, or Ida Lewis, or ex-Minister to Australia John M. Francis, well!

or any other widely known man or woman who expressly wishes others to be benefited by his or her experience, the proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound gladly give such unsolicited testimonials to the public press.
But one person's health is as valuable as another's, and in publishing the testimonials of people whom this great remedy has made well and strong, no particular emphasis is put upon such person's official standing.
The world is made up of what Abraham Lincoln called "the plain people." It is they whom Paine's Celery Compound has most benefited.
Here is a letter (corbated) just received from Louisa Pierce of Melette, South Dakota:
"I used Paine's Celery Compound first for rheumatism, and found that it helped me very much. I have since used it for nervousness and kidney trouble, and have received very much benefit from its use, and consider it one of the best of remedies. Mr. A. Cady's people use it and think they can hardly get along without it in the house. I know of several others that have used it that I am not acquainted with, but one other lady, Mrs. Ondell, used it for nervousness, and it made her well."
There is the testimony of thousands. Paine's Celery Compound make people well!

Why Jumbo Was Athetized.
It was eight or nine years ago, and the care containing the animals were unloaded near the Canal street freight house. The animals were guided across Exchange place by attendants, and the elephants went along very peacefully.
They hadn't gone a great distance, however, when Jumbo's back began to itch. The big elephant tried to reach the place with his trunk, but didn't manage to. So he stepped from the line and looked for a suitable place against which to rub his back. There were two objects in sight—a big flagstaff and Paddy Burns' shanty, which stood in the rear of the Three Ones' fire station. Jumbo picked out the shanty, and by the time he had relieved his feelings things inside were upside down, and the building had nearly been removed from its foundations and shoved into the water.
Paddy Burns looked for a lawyer, and found the late Ambrose E. West. The attorney issued a writ and gave it to a deputy sheriff, with instructions to attach Jumbo. The officer presented the paper to the treasurer of the circus and then took up a position near the elephant, but out of the reach of the swing of his trunk.
The bill for damages was promptly settled, but the officer said afterward that if the animal had decided to walk away he hadn't any idea how he could have proceeded to enforce the law by compelling him to remain.—Providence Journal.

Regulated by a Hair.
One solitary human hair seems a very small thing, but it is the most important part of an important machine in the capitol at Washington. This machine warms and ventilates the house, the senate and the various committee rooms and runs several electric dynamos. Its most curious feature is the appliance for telling the proper temperature of the air in the building. A dial arranged like a clock marks different degrees from 0 to 100. Zero means perfectly dry air, 100 saturated air—i. e., air carrying all the moisture it will hold.
Human hair absorbs moisture like a rope, becoming shorter when it is wet, in the same way. The hair here is six inches long. The difference in length between it when wet and when dry stands for the 100 degrees of moisture on the dial, and as the moisture of the hair varies the pointer on the dial moves. According to the necessity, more steam is thrown in or steam is allowed to escape, the atmosphere being in this way regulated and kept at a healthy point.—New York World.

Dangers of the Compartment Car.
The beauties of the compartment car plan are illustrated by the following occurrence to an excursion train in France: "After passing Amiens it was noticed that the roof of a compartment containing nine passengers was on fire. The passengers tried to draw the attention of the driver and guard, but found the communication cut, broken, and as the flames were every second obtaining a firmer hold of the woodwork of the occupants, at the risk of his life, went along the footboards to the guard's van, only to learn that the latter had no means of communication with the engine driver. Meanwhile, as the train rushed on, the flames increased in volume, and the passengers, in a panic, tried revolver shots to attract the attention of those on the engine. Even this failed, however, and the condition of affairs was becoming most serious, when the guard succeeded in scrambling across the carriages to the engine. The train was stopped and the fire eventually subdued."

Artificial Respiration.
Dr. Berthold Beer advocates the following method of artificial respiration: The mucous membrane of the lips and of the mouth is rubbed slowly with a piece of ice, the rhythm of the motion corresponding as nearly as possible to that of normal respiration. Dr. Beer has noticed that the inevitable result of the treatment was the return of respiration, at first in a very pronounced form, but becoming, on the continued application of the ice, very regular, quiet and deep. Ice used in this way has also a general sedative effect, and its quieting action has been successfully turned to account in the treatment of cerebral troubles. Dr. Foges of Vienna has obtained equally favorable results with this treatment in cases of asphyxia. It is very much to the advantage of this method that it may be employed for several hours at a time, and is harmless for the patient and easy for the physician.
